Neurorehabilitation and Neural Engineering Laboratory (MN106)

General

1. No person is allowed to use the laboratory without prior approval by the authorized person / laboratory-in-charge.
2. Laboratory safety rules must be read, understood and followed by laboratory users.
3. Specific safety rules and operating instructions must be consistent with the manufacturers' recommendations and posted in the laboratory close to the respective machines.
4. Users of machines must be properly trained. Inexperience operators such as students must be properly supervised.
5. Staff and students must not work alone in laboratory if they need to operate potentially dangerous machinery or engage in potentially dangerous work processes.
6. Machines must not be used without appropriate guards. All guards must be correctly placed before a machine is started. The laboratory supervisor in-charge must be informed of any missing or damaged guards.
7. All laboratory users must know the location of first aid box, fire extinguisher in the laboratory.
8. All laboratory users must know the nearest exit by using the escape map and the map should be hung up on main entrance of the laboratory.
9. Machines/devices must NOT be allowed to be left running unattended except in special circumstances where adequate safety measures are in place and only with the written approval of the supervisor/person in charge of the laboratory.
10. Slipper, sandal or other shoes that expose your toes are not allowed.
11. Eating, drinking and smoking are not allowed in laboratory.
12. All conducting surfaces of machines must be grounded properly.
13. Adequate lighting should be provided for working. Lighting should be placed or shaded in ways to prevent direct rays of light from projecting on the eyes of worker during working in the laboratory.
14. Electrical connections to switch boxes, fuse boxes, isolators, etc. must only be undertaken by competent electricians qualified and authorized to perform the job.

Device Assisted Rehabilitation Training/Experiment on Human Subjects

15. Device users must check the functionality before any experiment on human subjects, and should set the device to its initial configuration for each usage.
16. Training devices are not allowed to be used outside the laboratory without the approval from the lab-in-charge.
17. All electrically powered systems should be grounded to earth to prevent electrical shock when attached to human body.
18. All rehabilitation experiment/training on human subjects should be conducted in the working days when on-campus medical clinic is open for service.
19. A wheelchair is always ready for human subjects with motor disability to escape, in case of any accident, e.g., fire alarm.
20. Keep the rehabilitation area tidy and no obstacles in the pathway.

Remarks:
Academic staff should provide details if there's any chance working alone in the laboratories is not allowed when using some machines / doing some experiment etc.

Declaration:
Hereby I confirm that I have read and understood these lab safety instructions and work alone policy. I agree to follow the rules described.
